The Beneteau Oceanis 50 has become a reference point for 50' cruising yachts. A tremendously successful model for Chantier beneteau. They were a Berret Racoupeau design, built between 2006 and 2011. In that time some 18 yachts were sold within Australia. They have proven to be a solid and speedy boat. The interiors are quite amazing, with three generous cabins and a large welcoming saloon. The aft cockpit is also very roomy, and the access to the water from the stern is also a feature. Holy Cow is among the most well known of this model. She has sailed up and down the East Coast and even competed in a Sydney Hobart. Her distinctive look is iconic. Her condition is remarkable and finally she is well priced for an easy 'sail'. For an adventure up the Coast or around the Pacific, it would be hard to find a better boat!
